Student Shout Outs!

Shout out to Gwen this week! She has been great at coming into our school as a senior. She is focused, doing well and just a very kid person. We love that you are attending our school and can't wait to see you walk across the graduation stage this year!

Shout out to Lucas this week. It isn't easy coming to another country and trying to be in high school, especially when it isn't in your first language. He also scored four touchdowns on Friday night's game! Great job being involved Lucas!

Shout out to Lilly J. this week! Another new student to our school who is excelling so quickly. She is a great student in her classes and is dominating on the MS VB court! Thanks for being an awesome kid, Lilly and we are glad you came to our school!

Student News

Make sure to be checking your grades. Progress reports are next week and nobody should be blindsided by their grades. You should check them at least once a week, but more like once a day.

Ag classes are looking for apple donations. If you want to donate apples for cider making, please reach out to Tracy Engholm tengholm@cal.k12.or.us

MS students will be doing their MAPS testing this week on Wednesday/Thursday. You will be reporting to your first period class and then broken up by grade. Sixth grade will go to Bloom, seventh to Thorin and eighth to Kau. You will then stay in those groups the whole day to complete testing. If needed, we will repeat the process on Thursday.

MS students who are falling behind in grades, you will be going to a "study hall" of sorts during MS break instead of the library or gym. Teachers will email who needs some extra help to get their grades up and they will be required to attend the class study hall during break.

Homecoming planning starts next week. Can't wait to see all the celebrations of it!

As always, have any questions or concerns, reach out.
