February 2, 2024

Dear Parent or Guardian,

As we all begin making plans to return to school, I want to remind our parents and students of eLearning changes we made last year and will continue to implement for the 2023-24 school year. We have two different types of instruction on inclement weather days, eLearning, and Virtual Learning.

Definitions:

eLearning: Lessons are posted, and teachers are available for questions via email during typical school day hours. All eLearning lessons will be recorded and posted to Seesaw or Canvas. Recording will be posted for one week following the eLearning day. Students have three days to turn in assignments, with the day that eLearning is conducted as Day 0. High school students are required to turn in assignments within 24 hours.

Virtual Learning: Lessons are delivered LIVE by the teacher at a designated scheduled time (schedules will be posted by each school); teachers will be available during the live lesson or via email for questions during typical school day hours. All virtual lessons will be recorded and posted to Seesaw or Canvas. Recordings will be posted for one week following the Virtual Learning Day. Attendance will be taken by assignment completion or live participation for the entire class period at ENMS & ENHS. Elementary students will have three (3) days to submit all work and Middle School students will have two (2) days to submit work. Submission of work is counted towards attendance. The eLearning/virtual learning day is considered Day 0. High School students are required to turn in assignments within 24 hours.

During Virtual Learning days we are asking that all students attend class during the designated time listed on the schedule. Lessons will be posted to Seesaw or Canvas shortly after the live lessons. Students are asked to have their camera turned on and appropriately clothed. This means not wearing pajamas or clothing that would not be allowed when attending a traditional school day. This is considered a school day and we ask students to follow the same guidelines as if attending any East Noble school.

If East Noble were to have a cancellation within the first two weeks of school, we would designate it as an eLearning day. All other cancellation days throughout the year will be considered Virtual Learning unless otherwise indicated. Unfortunately, when posting this on news media outlets we have no other option but to choose "eLearning". Please check your East Noble email, School Messenger, and social media posts to follow guidance for eLearning or Virtual Learning days.

Please refer to our website for the most updated Virtual Learning schedules. School leaders will be providing more information as we begin the school year.

Thank you for choosing East Noble!
