Chain of Communication

- As parents, you play a crucial role in your child's life and your involvement in their education is invaluable. It is essential to maintain an open and respectful dialogue with teachers when concerns arise.
- We ask that the following chain of command be followed to maintain open lines of communication. When a concern arises it is best to contact the teacher directly to get a better understanding of what is occurring. It is important that if your child shares a concern, you reach out to the teacher directly.

Contact Information
