

Richardson Elementary School Interventions by Grade Level 2023-2024 School Year

Kindergarten-Sixth Grade classes have academic support time built into the regular school day. During this time general education teachers, intervention teachers and/or paraprofessionals work with students to help them improve in reading or math skills.

RES uses multiple different programs to assess where students are at academically. If students are struggling, they are identified and interventions are put into place to assist the student. Child find and student information meetings also take place as a staff to develop a plan for these students as to what interventions can be put into place to assist the students.

All of our interventions are based on areas where students need additional support. Multiple sources of data are gathered and analyzed to come up with an intervention plan that is tailored to what the students in each grade level need. Data is analyzed frequently throughout the year to make any necessary adjustments.
