Creating a Culture of Learning...

Words from a teacher:

I just want to give you an observation that I have seen and some other 7th grade teachers have seen: this 7th grade group has been very consistent with coming into RTI sessions ready to work and learn, and they have made RTI very easy this school year. I don't have to struggle with students who attempt to avoid the work or activity and I can sense a total mindset change when they are in RTI. They approach the time like they are refining a skill intrinsically. Just wanted to pass that observation off to you.
