Accreditation Is Continuous Improvement

Cognia defines continuous improvement as "an embedded behavior rooted in an institution's culture that constantly focuses on conditions, processes, and practices to improve teaching and learning." Accreditation is a continuous improvement process that helps an institution improve teaching and learning. Using Cognia's Performance Standards, the institution examines its current effectiveness as well as its capacity and capability to achieve its vision and goals for the future.

Cognia believes all institutions can improve no matter how well they are currently performing. In the same manner that educators are expected to understand the unique needs of every learner and tailor the education experience to drive student success, every institution must be empowered to map out and embrace their unique improvement journey. Cognia expects institutions to use the results and analyses of data from diverse sources to select and implement actions that drive improvement in education quality and student performance. Cognia recognizes that each institution's improvement journey is unique and that we can serve you best by providing key findings specific to your institution.

Around the turn of the 21st century, accreditation transformed its focus and process from a ten-year evaluation focused on the accomplishments of an institution's past decade to a forward-focused process examining what an institution is striving to accomplish in the next five years. Modern accreditation examines the current and future capabilities and capacities of an institution in the context of its mission, purpose and direction. The Standards for Accreditation define how a good institution behaves and provides the criteria to focus improvement efforts that will lead to growing learners, teachers, and leaders.

In reality, modern accreditation is a continuous improvement process. At least every six years, the institution formally engages the Standards for Accreditation to reflect and examine its progress toward its desired future as expressed through its mission, purpose, and strategic direction.

Cognia's purpose-driven, strategic process is the most widely used continuous improvement process in the world.

Cognia Performance Accreditation and the Engagement Review

This report contains the findings of the Engagement Review. The findings of the report are organized in five sections: Assurances, Rating of Analyses, Cognia Performance Standards, Insights from the Review, and a Summary of Findings that includes Noteworthy Practices and Areas for Improvement.

Accreditation is pivotal to leveraging education quality and continuous improvement. Using a set of rigorous research-based standards, the accreditation process examines the whole institution—the program, the cultural context, and the community of stakeholders—to determine how well the parts work together to meet the needs of learners. Through the Cognia Accreditation Process, highly skilled and trained evaluators gather first-hand evidence and information pertinent to evaluating an institution's performance against research-based Cognia Performance Standards. Using these standards, evaluators assess the quality of the learning environment to gain valuable insights and target improvements in teaching and learning as well as the operation of the institution.

To build a comprehensive evaluation of your institution, our experts gain a broad understanding of institution quality through a review of documented evidence, discussions with leadership, and community feedback. Using the standards as a framework, the report provides valuable guidance to help focus your institution's improvement journey.

Assurances

Assurances are requirements that accredited institutions must meet. # Evaluations of Institution Analyses

Cognia expects institutions to use a systematic process to collect data and information using quality instruments and then analyze and synthesize that information to arrive at findings. From the findings, Cognia expects institutions to develop, prioritize, and implement theories of action that will sustain high-performing areas and lead to improvement in underperforming areas.

Cognia requires institutions to complete analyses on selected data sources. Each analysis is evaluated using rubrics aligned to the main activities within the analysis process.

Performance Standards Evaluation Results

Accreditation is based primarily on the evaluation of evidence that reflects an institution's ability to meet the expectations as defined by the Cognia Performance Standards. The Performance Standards define the elements of quality that research indicates are present in an effective institution. Accreditation standards provide the guideposts to becoming a better institution. The Engagement Review evaluators apply a four-level rubric to determine the degree to which the institution demonstrates effective practices that reflect the expectations of the standard. The rubric scale is designed to indicate the current performance of the institution.

The rubric is scored from Level 4 to Level 1. Descriptions are provided in the table below.

RATING	LEVEL	DESCRIPTION
★★★★	4	Demonstrating noteworthy systematic and systemic practices producing clear results that positively impact learners.
★★★☆☆	3	Engaging in practices that provide evidence of expected effectiveness that is reflected in the standard.
★★☆☆☆	2	Developing or improving practices that provide evidence that effort approaches desired level of effectiveness.
★☆☆☆☆	1	Reflecting areas with insufficient evidence and/or limited activity leading toward improvement.

Cognia Performance Standards Ratings

Culture of Learning Standards

A good institution nurtures and sustains a healthy culture for learning. In a healthy culture, learners, parents, and educators feel connected to the purpose and work of the institution as well as behave in alignment with the stated values and norms. The institution also demonstrates evidence that reflects the mission, beliefs, and expectations of the institution (e.g., student work; physical appearance of the institution; participation in institution activities; parents' attendance at institution functions).

A healthy culture is evident where:

- Stakeholders are actively engaged and supportive of the institution's mission
- Learners' academic and non-academic needs and interests are the focal point
- Stakeholders are included and supported

Network Comparison for Culture of Learning Standards

Leadership for Learning Standards

The ability of a leader to provide leadership for learning is a key attribute of a good institution. Leaders who engage in their own learning while tangibly supporting the learning process for learners and teachers have a significant positive impact on the success of others. Leaders must also communicate the learning expectations for all learners and teachers continuously with consistency and purpose. The expectations are embedded in the culture of the institution, reflected by learners', teachers', and leaders' behaviors and attitudes toward learning.

Network Comparison for Engagement of Learning Standards

Growth in Learning Standards

A good institution positively impacts learners throughout their journey of learning. A positive impact on the learner is reflected in readiness to engage in and preparedness for the next transition in their learning. Growth in learning is also reflected in learners' ability to meet expectations in knowledge and skill acquisition.

Keys to Growth in Learning

Growth is evident when

- Learners possess non-academic skills that ensure readiness to learn
- Learners' academic achievement reflects preparedness to learn
- Learners attain knowledge and skills necessary to achieve goals for learning

Network Comparison for Growth in Learning Standards

Insights from the Review

The evaluators engaged in professional discussions and deliberations about the effectiveness of the processes, programs, and practices within the institution to arrive at the findings of the report. Guided by evidence, the evaluators arrived at findings that will inform your institution's continuous improvement efforts. The findings are aligned to research-based criteria designed to improve student learning and organizational effectiveness.

The findings are organized into narratives around four Key Characteristics critical to the success of any educational institution: culture of learning, leadership for learning, engagement of learning, and growth in learning. The narratives also provide the next steps to guide your institution's improvement journey in its efforts to improve the quality of educational opportunities for all learners. The feedback provided in this Accreditation Engagement Review Report will assist your institution in reflecting on its current improvement efforts and adapting and adjusting your plans to continuously strive for improvement.

Culture of Learning

Chattahoochee County Schools collaborates with all stakeholders to advance the systems' goals and priorities to support learners. Multiple advisory councils are leveraged to support strategic priorities and identify actions to guide improvement. The standards narratives provide information about the student advisory council, led by the superintendent, as well as employee, parent, and community councils. Ongoing feedback and collaboration with stakeholder groups have led to the development of the Chattahoochee County Graduate Profile, guidance for the system's charter application, and expansion of the College and Career Academy. Leaders create an environment that supports the active involvement of all stakeholders in systemic improvement to support learners. The strategic plan and balanced scorecard, housed in the Accreditation Portfolio, measure student achievement, workplace culture, community involvement, and family support. These documents evaluate progress toward goals, are collaboratively developed with a variety of stakeholders, and are shared with the board of education and superintendent. Goals and priorities measured by perception data confirm all stakeholders feel part of the educational community and included in shared decision making. Leaders create a culture of collaboration and involve multiple stakeholder groups to engage in work aligned with the system's goals and priorities. Every semester, schools participate in an impact check process. The presentation, given to the board of education and superintendent, includes disaggregated student achievement data by content area, standards domains, and student subgroup. Collaborative conversations are focused on strategic goals for improvement and opportunities to support learners. Longitudinal data presented in impact checks indicate academic growth and improvement over time, including a steady increase in the high school graduation rate, currently at 95%. The school system is encouraged to collaborate with diverse student and family groups represented in the schools to have varied perspectives and input on strategic goals and needed support for students.

Leadership for Learning

The school system focuses on the learner when identifying needs and allocating human, material, and fiscal resources. Chattahoochee County Schools petitioned the state of Georgia in 2020 to become a charter district. During the leadership interview, the review team learned the system sought this status to allow for greater flexibility to meet system and student needs. Narrative evidence includes examples of system flexibility, using charter status, such as human resource management and hiring of staff. The school system utilizes flexibility and autonomy to make decisions to support learner needs. The system's balanced budget sheet, found in the Assurances, highlights line-item allocations for instruction, professional development, safety, and pupil services. Expenditures align with the strategic plan and Consolidated Local Improvement Plan (CLIP). System leaders monitor the progress of identified action steps in the CLIP to evaluate the impact of funds based on learner needs. System leadership reviews expenditures, using current data, to ensure alignment with system needs focused on students. Before making purchases for goods, services, or programs, the system uses a logic model to assess quality and impact. The logic model, provided in the narrative evidence, includes research, goals addressed, action steps, evaluation, outcomes, progress monitoring, and budget funding that are reviewed and approved before purchasing. As charter status continues to be leveraged, it is suggested the system identify areas of charter flexibility, specific to the allocation of human, material, and fiscal resources, to measure the direct impact on learners.

Engagement of Learning

While the system has made gains in adopting expectations to promote student engagement and agency, additional improvement is needed to transfer expectations to instructional practice.

Evidence provided in the Engagement of Learning Narrative includes the focus on outfitting all schools with Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Mathematics (STEAM) labs. Resources, materials, and technology purchased for the labs are recommended by members of the Career Technical and Agricultural (CTAE) Governance Team. Both in-person and virtual professional learning are provided to support the implementation of STEAM in schools. The system is working on providing technology, resources, and professional learning to support STEAM education to promote creativity, curiosity, and design thinking in classrooms. Data provided in stakeholder perception analysis reveal 50% of learners feel a lot of their instructional time is spent completing worksheets. Additional areas of growth identified in learner perception surveys are engagement and the use of digital resources. Lack of student engagement in the learning process was noted in classroom observations and highlighted in the Learning Environment Analysis. Leadership is encouraged to identify strategic system initiatives, such as STEAM and the use of technology, and develop and communicate expectations for implementation, including translation into practice, monitoring, and support. Additionally, in strategic planning, the system is encouraged to focus on learner engagement using classroom observation and stakeholder survey data as measures of improvement.

Growth in Learning

Chattahoochee County Schools addresses the needs of learners in academic and non-academic settings to support their education, transitions in learning, and future college and career success. The system prioritizes transition support for college and career readiness for all learners. Narrative evidence showcased a college and career program embedded in counseling classes for all kindergarten to fifth-grade students. Support for students at the earliest levels exposes them to future options, so they can begin to dream big. At the middle-grade level, students take high school courses, such as Algebra I, and engage in connections courses aligned with high school pathways to create an onramp for college and career opportunities. In addition to career pathways and dual enrollment programs with local colleges and universities, high school students take the YouScience assessment to identify their areas of strengths and interests. The system supports students in all transitions of learning to support college and career readiness and success. The College and Career Academy has expanded pathway opportunities for students and includes a rich selection of choices such as healthcare, welding, and automotive mechanics. Evidence of work-based partnerships such as Rivertown Toyota allows students to extend learning beyond the instructional day to become certified master mechanics. Additionally, evidence provided in the Executive Summary details dual enrollment opportunities with Columbus Technical College, Columbus State University, and Georgia Military College. Approximately 80% of all high school students participate in Academy coursework. Chattahoochee County Schools engages with students to help them recognize their interests, talents, and gifts in support of future goals and aspirations. The school system utilizes Measures of Academic Progress (MAP) for students in kindergarten through grade eight. The adaptive assessment supports teachers in identifying the differentiated needs of all students. Standards narratives include information about how teachers utilize MAP data and engage in 1:1 meetings with students to discuss their achievement scores and to set goals to show growth in learning from the fall, winter, and spring MAP assessment administrations. It is suggested that Chattahoochee County leaders engage staff in conversations and professional learning about small group, differentiated instruction to continue to grow students academically.

Summary of Findings

The review process focused on establishing evidence of effective practice and performance of the institution in relation to the accreditation standards.

Noteworthy Practices

In conducting the review, the evaluator identified Noteworthy Practices that reflect significant areas of strength in the work of the institution. Although there are numerous examples of the institution's level of quality, the recognition of Noteworthy Practices reflects the greatest strengths of the institution.

- 1 Leadership intentionally collaborates with multiple stakeholder groups to create opportunities for strategic decision making, innovative practice, and shared accountability aimed at continuous improvement. This commitment has resulted in the creation of a College and Career Academy focused on expanded opportunities beyond high school and intentional partnerships with community businesses and post-secondary institutions which has led to a steady increase in high school graduation rate, currently at 95%.

Areas for Improvement

Using the information collected and reviewed, the evaluator identified the following Areas for Improvement that will help the institution improve. The Areas for Improvement will be revisited when the institution conducts Cognia's Progress Report.

- 1 Implement differentiated learning opportunities for high-achieving and gifted learners to ensure academic growth.

Standard 21   Standard 22

RATIONALE   If the school system utilizes data to provide differentiated learning experiences for high-achieving and gifted students, then their learning and academic growth will be maximized, and the school system will see improvement in local, state, and national assessment scores.

---

- 2 Develop opportunities for staff members to participate in professional learning on student engagement in the classroom.

Standard 13   Standard 18

RATIONALE   If the school system increases engagement in the classroom, then students will have a greater level of involvement, voice, ownership, and satisfaction in their learning.

Accreditation Status and Index of Education Quality®

Cognia will review the results of the Accreditation Engagement Review to make a final determination concerning the accreditation status of your institution based on these findings. Cognia provides the Index of Education Quality (IEQ) as a holistic measure of overall performance.

Your Institution's IEQ	SCORE	DESCRIPTION
329	Below 220	An IEQ score below 220 indicates that the institution has several Areas for Improvement and should focus their improvement efforts on those areas and the related Standards and/or Assurances. The institution will be required to present evidence of improvement to Cognia within one year through a Progress Monitoring Review. Additional Progress Reports may be required if satisfactory improvement is not achieved.
Cognia's IEQ Network Average: 253	220 - 300	An IEQ in the range of 220-300 suggests the institution has some Areas for Improvement and may include one or more Noteworthy Practices. Institutions must address the Areas for Improvement and provide evidence of actions taken and results to Cognia in a required Progress Report due three years following the review. Additional progress monitoring may be required if satisfactory improvement is not achieved.
	Above 300	An IEQ above 300 indicates the institution meets Cognia's expectations for accreditation that include one or more Areas for Improvement and may include one or more Noteworthy Practices. Institutions must address the Areas for Improvement and provide evidence of actions taken and results to Cognia in a required Progress Report due three years following the review. Additional progress monitoring may be required if satisfactory progress is not achieved.
