Chloe Rosenbaum

Welcome and About Me!

My name is Chloe' Rosenbaum. I grew up in Yorktown, Indiana where I attended Yorktown Community Schools. While at Yorktown Community Schools I started swimming in the second grade and swam all the way up to my freshman year of college. After graduating from Yorktown High School in 2017 I pursued my career in education by attending Anderson University. I graduated from Anderson University in 2021. After graduation I started looking for teaching jobs. I knew that I wanted a smaller school system with a close knit community and then I found and fell in love with Blue River. This is my third year at Blue River. I taught 6th grade for two years and this is my first year as the full time substitute!

My Education and Professional Background

In 2021 I earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education from Anderson University. While at Anderson University I was given lots of opportunities to be in the classroom. I student taught in a first grade classroom at Daleville Elementary School. I have been working in the field of education for three years now.

My Educational Philosophy and Thoughts on Our School

My inspiration for working in the field of education came when I was a sophomore in high school. As a sophomore in high school, I signed up to help my second-grade teacher that I had. Even though it consisted of grading papers, making copies, etc. I still loved being in the classroom with those children. Once I got to college, I was excited to see what opportunities awaited me. My very first class was with a professor who absolutely loved teaching. Seeing her passion for education made me want to continue with my education to become a great teacher like her. My educational philosophy came from watching that professor and the passion she had for teaching. In my classroom my students should see that they can be themselves, they can learn at their own pace, and that it is a fun and safe space to grow to their greatest potential with support.
