

SchoolCare For Parents

Prevention and Care

Main objective

SchoolCare connects parents to school nurses so you know what's happening with your child's health at school.

- Know what's happening in real-time. Receive notifications from the school nurse, know your child's health at school when it happens, and access your child's school health information online.
- Securely share your child's health information with schools — and add or remove access anytime.
- Skip filling out each form every year. After information is on SchoolCare, you simply update any changes yearly.

Medical consultations

Having primary provider information on file helps nurses continue the care that a doctor recommends, and gives them access to the correct expert on your child's particular health needs. This coordination allows children to stay healthy and get better faster. It also allows you and your primary care the ability to see if there are any unknown medical conditions or concerns based on school visits.

Who has access

Parents to real time school health visits. School staff permissions are granted on a role-by-role basis. School nurses have access to all health information on file, while administrators, teachers, and coaches are granted information based on what they need to know as determined by your school district.

Ongoing collaboration

SchoolCare's Coordination Program allows school nurses, parents, doctors and health plans to share information and communicate about the health needs of a child so the best possible care can be provided. This allows early detection to possible health issues along with real time continuation of care for current medical issues to doctors, parents, and school nurses.

Promotion of healthy habits

Your school nurse will update you and physicians regarding your child's health information on SchoolCare through logging regular visits and screenings. This allows insurance to provide health opportunities by care managers identifying new opportunities for your child's healthcare program. This keeps you informed of any possible recommendations from your school or healthcare provider.
