Parent Update-Week of January 15th, 2024

This Week At South:

Monday: No School - MLK Day

Winter Benchmarking Data Review this week

This week, teachers will be meeting in data teams to look at individual student assessment reports (MAP, F&P, AIMSweb) and will look at growth, areas of deficit and areas of strength. MTSS intervention groups will be adjusted as a result of the data. Letters will come out to inform you what your child will be working on in MTSS for second semester.

Referendum Information

The District is hosting referendum informational night on Thursday, January 25th @ 6:00 p.m. in the OHS Learning Center / Library. Dr. O'Donnell and Mr. Walsh will be sharing information about why the District is running a referendum and how the tax swap (no increase in overall tax rate) is possible. For additional referendum information please visit <https://www.olympia.org/page/referendum-overview>

This one page Fast Fact sheet is a great reference as well -  Fast Facts.pdf

Snow Packets

With winter weather in the forecast for this week, remember if school is canceled and it is an E-Learning day, there are two snow packets in the back pocket of your child's red folder. They are numbered packet 1 and packet 2. ONLY one packet is to be completed on an e-learning day. We just have two ready to go in case they are needed. Please check your child's folder to make sure they are there in case you need them!

Notes from the PTO

January 26th from 6-8pm will be Olympia South night at Iron Coyote. PTO will receive a portion of all ticket and concession sales that night. Come join us for a night of fun!

Cognia Parent Survey coming Next Week!

Next week our parent annual survey will be released. It is really important to hear feedback from our families. When this survey comes out, please take a few minutes to fill it out! This information is also shared on our school report card which many families use when they are considering moving to our community.
