About Us:

Southern Wells Community Schools offers all young people a quality educational environment in a rural community. We are a school that values the family and holds appreciation for discipline, hard work, and high moral standards. The school district is located in the southern portion of Wells County and encompasses the townships of Chester, Jackson, Liberty, and Nottingham. There are no large towns or cities within the school district; however, there are several small communities. The school system and churches within the district are the centers for the majority of community activities.

From us:

“The reason we choose to send our kiddos to Southern Wells Elementary is because of the staff and the culture of the school. We chose a school that we felt aligned most closely with our family’s beliefs and values. The atmosphere in the elementary is positive and nurturing and has been a good experience for our children.”
