Building a stronger, more connected future for education in our region

I am proud to share that Whittier Tech has officially entered the Massachusetts School Building Authority (MSBA) process—a vital step toward a new building and future-ready campus.

This spring, leaders from all 11 communities in our district signed a letter of agreement—a key requirement for MSBA consideration—in support of the project. As of August 1, 2025, Whittier Tech will be formally welcomed into the pipeline.

Why does this matter? The MSBA process opens the door to significant state funding—support that makes this project financially feasible for our communities. Thanks to the unity and leadership of our 11 cities and towns, we've made real progress—and we're just getting started.

As we look ahead, we remain deeply committed to the outstanding teaching and learning happening in our current building. Our mission is clear: support today's students while shaping tomorrow.

Exploring a Partnership with NECC

One exciting option under consideration is a new Whittier Tech campus located on the grounds of Northern Essex Community College (NECC).

"A partnership between Whittier Tech and NECC would open doors to innovative educational pathways—creating clear and coordinated opportunities for both high school and college students, while strengthening our local workforce and communities."
