Our book for March 21 is The Thursday Murder Club by Richard Osman.

SATURDAY MARCH 16

BOARD GAME CAFE

Try a new game with a treat and a hot drink! Help yourself to coffee, hot chocolate, cider, and cookies or donuts. Then try out a new board game, or bring a favorite to play with friends.

Come with a friend, or bring your family! Suitable for all ages that won't try to swallow chess pieces ☺.

Spring Break Movies

March 25-29 (Mon-Fri) @2:00

Come on in for movies and popcorn at the library during Spring Break. All Ages welcome.

Director's Notes

Every year, scientists at Arizona State University match up dozens of animals in a bracket and describe how those matches end throughout the month. We end up with a winning animal on April 3, and as results start coming in starting March 11 I will be showcasing matches in the library. This is similar to some basketball tournament going on at the same time, but who's really watching that? 😊 Stop in to the library for your bracket and a chance to win prizes!

We also have a new puppet stage and loads more puppets for the burgeoning playwrights out there; soon I will have them all cataloged and ready to go home, too, so playtime doesn't have to stop when you leave the library!

Finally, I hope we get see you all on March 30 from 11:00-2:00 for the Elmwood Village Easter Lunch! In addition to food, we are assembling baskets to raise some money for a new roof at the library. Ours has sprung a leak! Which is not great for the books...

Have a happy Spring Break, St. Patrick's Day, and Easter, and we will see you again in April! As a preview: There Will Be Puzzles!

NEW AND NOTABLE TITLES

Many of these titles will go first to people who request them in advance, so reserve your copy today or come in to the library and we can help you out!
