Message from the Superintendent

Within the next two months, the Depew Union Free School District will be welcoming their new Superintendent of Schools. As I look back on my time as Interim Superintendent of Schools in Depew, I am very thankful for the opportunity to have served this school community. The last six months have passed very quickly but I will always remember what we accomplished together in the District.

In this position, one gets to work with every aspect of the school community, including the Board of Education, teachers, instructional leaders, SEA staff and district architects and engineers. In each of these areas, we are all focused on creating the best educational experiences for our students.

My fondest memories, however, will be those spent saying good morning to the students in the hallways and getting to know them while observing their learning. My classroom visits were very meaningful as I observed the interaction between the students and their teachers.

At the elementary level, I saw firsthand how children with diverse backgrounds and cultures came together to share ideas and learn from each other and their teachers. Whether I was listening to the high school band prepare for an upcoming performance or observing young adults in the skilled learning classroom, each lesson demonstrated the diverse learning experiences here in Depew.

Another very special event was the sendoff for the varsity bowling team as they headed to the State Finals. The team walked the hallways of the high school and were met with congratulations and well wishes from their classmates and teachers. Later that week, they became state champions.

A great school district offers many different types of educational programs for students and I have come to learn that Depew is one of those school districts. I could see the full scale of these offerings as I attended the Annual Music Awards Night, the Art Show, the Athletic Banquet, the Breakfast of Champions and the Annual Middle School Freedom of America Essay and Art Contest. I also had an opportunity to attend the monthly meetings of the Academy of Finance, another one of Depew's outstanding educational programs.

Depew's children are in great hands with so many outstanding educators. I have been very proud and amazed at what I observed and learned about the Depew instructional programs.

Another very vivid memory was the "Parade of Graduates," an event that I will always remember, as prospective graduates paraded in their caps and gowns through the hallways of Cayuga Elementary, the Middle School and then the High School. The emotion of this event, with all of the other students standing in the hallways congratulating them and wishing the graduates good luck, will never leave my mind.

I have enjoyed my time at Depew and wish the best for the new Superintendent of Schools, the Depew staff members and the students of this great community.

Best Regards,

C. Douglas Whelan, Ed.D
Interim Superintendent of Schools

Message from the Director of Curriculum, Instruction and Personnel

*Joseph D'Amato,
Director of Curriculum,
Instruction and Personnel*

On June 30, 2024, I will be saying goodbye to Depew UFSD, ending my 19-year career as an administrator. This marks the conclusion of a four-decade-long career in education. Making this decision was not easy.

Reflecting on my time in Depew, I am filled with gratitude for the countless opportunities to work with exceptional educators and support staff. Together, we have demonstrated that with teamwork and dedication, no goal is too lofty. We have faced challenges, celebrated successes, and remained committed to the growth and well-being of our students.

Throughout my career, I have had the privilege of working with remarkable families who entrusted me with their most precious treasures—their children. It has been an honor to witness the resilience, brilliance, and potential within each student. I want to thank you all for allowing me to be a part of their lives.

I would also like to thank the Board of Education members, for the opportunity to be a Wildcat and for their unwavering support over the years.

While saying goodbye is difficult, I leave with a profound sense of gratitude and fulfillment. The memories, friendships, and experiences I've had in Depew will always hold a special place in my heart.

I will sleep well knowing the district is in capable hands, and that future students will have the opportunity to grow and learn in the proud Wildcat tradition.

Sincerely,

Joseph D'Amato
Director of Curriculum, Instruction and Personnel

Depew Teachers Retirement Class of 2024

You may have retired, But your presence will linger, Inspiring us all.

Marcia Andolina

Sue Ellis

John Kling III

Joe Franjoine

Kelly Jeffords

Thank you for your many years of service and dedication to our Depew students and community.

Enjoy your well-deserved retirement. You will be missed.

The Wandering Wildcat is Here!

The Wandering Wildcat is officially in the Depew School Community! At the Color Blast Dash in June, hundreds of books were given out to Depew families as part of the new book program.

The Wandering Wildcat will be visiting different locations in the community and giving out books to Depew students in kindergarten through fifth grade during the summer months. Research shows this practice can help support literacy rates, strengthen the home-school connection, combat learning loss when school is not in session and build bonds within the community.

The Wandering Wildcat came to life through a grant secured by Mrs. Tonya Trumphour and Mrs. Erin Peszko. The grant is from The American Federation of Teachers through the Depew Teachers Organization. There were also book donations from the Western New York Teachers Desk and Penworthy Publishing. Mrs. Peszko and Mrs. Trumphour are so excited to see this program come to fruition.

Watch our social media for updates of July and August events you'll find The Wandering Wildcat!

On May 19, a team of Depew Teachers joined by many family and friends of beloved Depew teacher Sue Owens, participated in the 2024 Hospice Walk. The team was the second-leading fundraising team of the entire event, raising $9,170 for this great cause. It was an emotional day as we remembered our dear friend and colleague who left us far too soon, but a beautiful way to honor her.

Thank you to the students of Connect Life Club who ran all the blood drives this school year.

DHS H.E.L.P. Club Getting into the Community

This year the DHS H.E.L.P. Club has been focused on spreading joy and developing community connections. Members of the group felt it would be a good idea to focus our energy within the school as well as at Elderwood. Some members of the group had previously volunteered with seniors and wanted to be sure they were honored, remembered and celebrated. They felt small mementos throughout the year would be good reminders that we are thinking of them. During December, members of the H.E.L.P. Club and Impact team crafted winter gnomes to deliver. In celebration of Spring, H.E.L.P. members designed greeting cards with handwritten notes and made chocolate-covered pretzels for the residents. We also delivered pretzels to the high school staff with a note of thanks for all they do. It has been found feeling grateful boosts happiness and fosters both physical and psychological health for both the giver and recipient.

Academy of Finance Students are becoming #FutureReady!

This year our AOF students have had the opportunity to participate in a variety of work-based learning activities. Students meet quarterly with mentors from the business community to work on career development skills; sophomore students attended a leadership conference at Canisius College in March, our juniors attended an etiquette and dining luncheon in April, and our seniors took a behind-the-scenes tour of Platter's Chocolates to see how this local business has become a leader in their industry.

In addition, our students built their College & Career portfolios which they used in our year-end Mock Interview Competition. These portfolios include students' resumes, cover letters, letters of recommendation, transcripts, attendance records, career and college research, and examples of their transferable skills such as leadership, time management, researching and managing information, interpersonal skills, teamwork and more. During our Mock Interview, students displayed their work, accomplishments and skills to our "potential" employers in hopes of being selected as the best candidate for the job.

Our hands-on, interactive work-based learning model helps to equip AOF students with the mindset, skills, and connections necessary to navigate their educational and professional journey after high school. We can't wait to see what the future holds for these prospective professionals!

Students Design and Build Mancala Boards

Mr. Raymond Cooper's Computer Integrated Manufacturing class successfully completed their Mancala Board Manufacturing unit. The unit consisted of Computer-Aided Design and Computer-Aided Manufacturing and allowed students to run their programs on the CNC Mill. Each student designed their board and produced the final product. At the end of the project, students competed in a bracket format Mancala tournament.

The 2024 Depew Mancala Champion was Ethan Mahoney, who defeated Maggie Bush 25-23.

DEPEW HIGH SCHOOL

Grim Reaper Day at DHS

On the last day of May, SADD students hosted Grim Reaper Day at Depew High School, a day to commemorate those who have lost their lives to substance abuse and distracted driving-related crashes. SADD members dress like Grim Reapers and throughout the day take “victims” who vow to be silent for the rest of the day. The day ended with an assembly with the District Attorney’s office and Victim Impact Panel warning high school students of the dangers and consequences of distracted driving and driving under the influence. Thanks to all the participants and presenters.

DEPEW MIDDLE SCHOOL

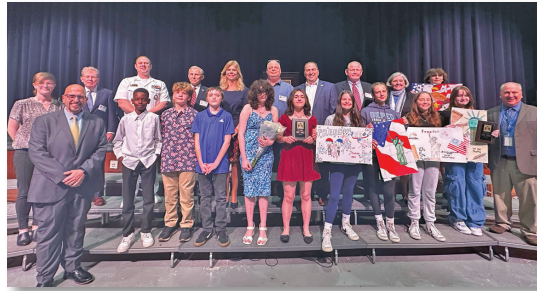

Freedom in America Essay and Poster Contest:

On Friday, May 10, the winners of the 50th Annual Depew Middle School Freedom In America Essay and Poster Contest were crowned. The winning essay was written by eighth grader, Gabby Maggiore. The winner of the poster contest was seventh grader, Teresa Lesinski. Both winners were awarded a cash prize, along with a plaque commemorating their achievement.

The assembly was held in the Depew High School auditorium in front of the entire middle school, families of the presenters and judges. The program was streamed on the district YouTube channel and also recorded by local news station, WGRZ Channel 2.

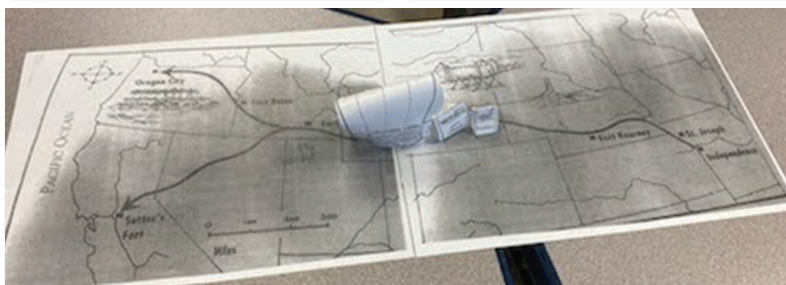

Mr. Sal Carlino and Mr. Joe Pagano, who planned and organized the contest, were extremely impressed with the finalists and their submissions.

Several special guests were also invited to the event. Mr. Anthony Caruana, retired middle school ELA teacher, and Mr. Bob Snyder, retired middle school art teacher, were among those in attendance. Mr. Caruana and Mr. Snyder created and ran the program during their time as Depew teachers. Both men were very excited to see the program still going strong.

Seventh Graders Role Play

Students in Mr. Sal Carlino's Social Studies classes enjoyed their study of Manifest Destiny. This was the period in the 1800s when more than a half million people moved west to Oregon and California. These families joined other families as part of Wagon Trains, led by a guide, who took them to their destination. Students had to select various items to carry on their wagon, including food, clothing, tools, supplies and family heirlooms. The twist was that they could only bring a select amount of items, having to leave some behind because of space and weight concerns for the wagon and the oxen that had to pull it. As in life, fate brought life and death, as well as success and failure along the way, which the students experienced throughout the activity. In the end, the students understood the factors that were part of this important time in American History, also known as Westward Expansion. While the purpose was to have fun, the students also had to think critically about their family's goals, and the pitfalls they may come across as they traveled west.

Innovation Station Class Attends WNY IMPACT Expo Conference

Eighth grade students in Mrs. Christine Rosch's Innovation Station class attended the WNY IMPACT Expo conference at Buffalo State University on May 20. They were among 400 people who came together to share and learn about technology and creative problem-solving. Students from many districts in the area, including Depew, shared their passion projects, which used innovation and the skills they had learned in their classes all year to help solve problems and make improvements in our communities.

They were able to experience a professional conference with keynote speakers, sessions presented by both students and community professionals and an opportunity to network with people from other school districts. This finale of the Innovation Station elective course earned the attending students a point toward their Seal of Civic Readiness in the high school. Everyone on the trip enjoyed the experience.

Delilah Torres Hirsch, who imbedded Makey Makey technology into her interactive display encouraging people to support sharks, and Anthony Brown, who designed and produced the Innovation t-shirts worn by Depew at the event in addition to creating a system to encourage more school attendance by students.

NJHS New Member Induction and Two-Year Recognition Ceremony

The Depew Middle School National Junior Honor Society inducted 22 seventh and six eighth graders into its chapter. Students participated in a candle-lighting ceremony relaying the 5 Pillars of Honor Society. New members also took a pledge promising to uphold the ideals of the Honor Society in their school and community. The ceremony also recognized the 29 eighth graders who are two-year members. Students at Cayuga had beautiful weather for field day activities.

Cayuga Heights fifth-graders celebrated the end of elementary school with family and friends at their promotion ceremony.

Cayuga Heights Universal Pre-Kindergarteners celebrated the end of their year at their graduation ceremony.

Cayuga Heights Coding Club

The Cayuga Heights Coding Club had another successful year, with third and fourth grade students participating from February through April. Students used Code.org to learn computer coding skills in block language format. These students were challenged with course levels beyond their normal grade levels and they all performed magnificently.

Each year the students have a friendly competition to see who can complete the most challenges and lessons. This year's top award winners were the following:

Grade 3:

Zoey Coyle - 1st Place
Alanna Gates - 2nd Place
Jenevieve Veiders - 3rd Place

Grade 4:

Ryan Kuczkowski - 1st Place
Ian Walker - 2nd Place
Kellen McGloin - 3rd Place

Leadership in Action!

The leadership skills of Cayuga students came to life this school year. Students became more aware of what was happening around them and found ways to show service to others. Being a leader takes courage, awareness and the willingness to take on a challenge. Our students at Cayuga Heights were doing just that!

Rylee McGill from Mr. Adam Nagy's fourth grade class displayed amazing leadership on an afternoon bus ride home. There happened to be a wonderful substitute driver who was unfamiliar with the route. Rylee took it upon herself to sit in the front seat and help the driver become more comfortable. She assisted her with recognizing the students on the bus and answering any questions the driver had. This sort of initiative exemplifies leadership.

Another student worth noting was Mackenzie Rodgers from Mrs. Andrea Richards' and Mrs. Alyssa Quintilone's fifth-grade class. Mackenzie showed interest in Autism Awareness Month as she has a younger brother with autism. She knows firsthand that autistic children benefit from using fidget devices. Mackenzie then created a sensory basket of fidgets to donate to one of our special education classes. Helping others is a great way to display leadership.

As these are some of the specific examples of student leadership in action, small events occurred daily at Cayuga Heights that demonstrated positive leadership. Whether it was setting an example in the cafeteria, older students helping younger ones with activities and in the hall, or even a simple smile to show caring and our "paws"itive spirit- Cayuga students were leaders every day.

Students pose with fidget devices.

Students Display Positivity through Creativity

The month of April at Cayuga Heights was all about cultivating positive attitudes and how developing a positive mindset can help with success. Students and staff participated in many different activities to help showcase positivity.

Our youngest students (PreK-first) listened to stories about being positive and looked at the "sunny" side of things. Our second and third graders learned how to turn lemons into lemonade, and our fourth and fifth graders were encouraged to participate in a poster contest promoting positivity along with their lessons about recognizing negative thoughts and how to change them into positive ones.

The students' poster contest entries were amazing. It was very challenging for the staff to choose just one. After much deliberation studying students' anonymous work, fourth grader Kellan McGloin, from Mrs. Jasinski's class, had the winning poster. You can find his artwork displayed on the Cayuga Heights leadership page on the district website.

To encourage positivity with our wonderful staff, positive potatoes were hidden throughout the building! If a staff member found one of these little crochet keepsakes, they could receive a prize and move it to a new spot! Adults and students had a fun time spotting these uplifting tokens throughout the month.

As we continued to learn about positive leadership and character, it was always nice to spread joy to others and foster our students' educational and emotional growth.

Numberblocks Connects with Math

It was a fantastic year for math bringing Numberblocks into the classroom. The younger grades were introduced to numbers through the educational videos and quickly bonded with their favorites. Each character is formed by the actual number of blocks, plus personalized with exciting character storylines.

The math department dressed up as Numberblocks for Halloween and received positive feedback from students, who quickly recognized these new math friends. When entering the classroom, images on the door welcomed students and the figurines were available on the front desk. They served as “students” when children taught new concepts or as companions during “movie theater”.

Older grades still loved them as they showcase higher-level concepts such as odd and even or number comparison. It was a great resource to watch some of these episodes over the summer. Great lessons and fun at the same time!

First Graders, Rahaf Saleh and Jannatul Manha, work with the Numberblocks characters

Fourth Grade Cayuga Heights Spelling Bee

Nineteen students competed in the annual Cayuga Heights Fourth Grade Spelling Bee. All finalists were awarded a participation trophy for proudly representing the top spellers from their classrooms.

The champion, Brayden Skotarski, was a student from Mrs. Worley and Mrs. Alessi’s classroom. The runner-up was Kellan McGloin from Mrs. Jasinski’s classroom.

After multiple rounds of spelling, Brayden emerged victorious by correctly spelled the winning word “jewels.” All spellers showcased poise and perseverance in this friendly competition.
