Speak Up Speech Therapy, LLC

Hi! My name is Ashley Johnson and I am a pediatric speech-language pathologist, and the owner of Speak Up Speech Therapy, a private speech therapy clinic located in Clackamas, OR. I provide speech and language therapy to children (ages 18mo - 18yo) who have delays in their articulation, language, literacy, and feeding development.

I'm excited to announce that I will be completing FREE community screenings at Damascus Christian School!

A speech & language screening is a service provided under the supervision of a licensed professional. This screening is used as a starting point in indicating any speech and language difficulties that may be impacting your child's overall development and academic progress.

A screening might be a great first step if you have similar concerns for your child such as:

ARTICULATION

"I can understand my child, but other people can't."

"My child gets so frustrated when trying to tell me something I can't understand."

LANGUAGE

"I feel like my child is smart, he just can't always express himself."

"Sometimes I'm not sure if my child is understanding routines and instructions in school."

LITERACY

"My child has a hard time remembering letters and sounds."

"My child doesn't always understand the meaning of what she is reading."

FEEDING

"My child constantly coughs and chokes when she eats and drinks."

"My child refuses to eat anything but chicken nuggets and chips."

Articulation

How we say sounds and words

Language

How we interpret messages and express ourselves

Literacy

Understanding written text, and learning how letters and sounds interact to form meaningful messages

Feeding

From picky eating to constantly coughing and choking while swallowing different textures

After the screening you will receive a sheet which indicates the results of the screening. If your child's screening indicates any red flags, warranting further evaluation, I will reach out to you personally to discuss next steps including scheduling a formal evaluation.
