

How can I certify my language skills?

Note: all certificates also have an English requirement. This will be verified through MCAS, ACCESS, or your ELA class.

Testing shows that I have a proficiency level of NOVICE HIGH.

- I can understand and use simple sentences about familiar, rehearsed topics
- I need someone to repeat what they said or they may ask me to repeat
- Visual support is helpful when I am listening or reading
- I am most comfortable talking about myself, my friends, my hobbies and my routine.

Certificate: Biliteracy Participation Certificate from Language Opportunity Coalition

Testing shows that I have a proficiency level of Intermediate Low.

- I can understand the main idea and some supporting details of a reading or audio clip.
- I can participate in daily routines and interactions without much support
- I make mistakes but you can still understand me without a problem
- I can speak and write in paragraphs and my sentences are becoming more complex.

Certificate: Biliteracy Attainment Certificates from Language Opportunity Coalition

Testing shows that I have a proficiency level of Intermediate Mid

- I have a solid intermediate level and can do all of the above with consistency.
- I am becoming more comfortable navigating a variety of situations
- I can use multiple time frames
- I still make mistakes but I converse in more complex sentences and write full paragraphs

Certificate: Functional Fluency by the Global Seal of Biliteracy

Testing shows that I have a proficiency level of Intermediate High

- I can narrate in multiple time frames
- I can discuss a wide range of topics
- I am understood easily as I do not make as many mistakes
- I am more spontaneous, I can resolve just about any situation that arises
- I can be creative with language

Certificate: The Massachusetts State Seal of Biliteracy

Testing shows that I have a proficiency level of Advanced Low

- I can communicate about complex issues since I have a wide range of vocabulary and grammatical structures
- I can be very creative with the language
- I use complex grammatical structures without error
- I am easily understood by all

→ The language I produce is organized and complex

Certificate: The Massachusetts State Seal of Biliteracy with Distinction

